The Iron Springs Chateau's newest production

"It's Nice of You to Notice"

It's a family affair as the Iron Springs Chateau launches it's newest 2015 production "It's Nice of You to Notice". Get ready to Boo the villain and Cheer the hero on opening night, Thursday, June 18, 2015, at 444 Ruxton Avenue, in Manitou Springs. Reservations are currently being accepted.

"It's Nice of You to Notice...or...Out of the West", written by playwright John Meyers, is a hilarious western melodrama that finds the villain, Mort Gage, in a heap o' trouble when he can't find the money to pay his mortgage. Mort's friend and accomplice, Fifi Lala has a plan, but she's really only in it for herself. And WHO is buying up all the property and taking over control of the town? Well, Mort and FiFi will just hire a gunslinger to take care of the problem - if they can just keep the temperance leader from blowing the whole deal! This production is directed by Robert Kelly with musical direction by Bruce Littrell and Mark Arnest. The cast includes local actors Jacob Cantor, Daisya Downen, Noah Hensley, Lori Adams-Miller, Michael Brown, Jolene Howard, and Mark Arnest on piano.

Following the melodrama is a fun-filled sing-a-long intermission with local favorite Bruce Littrell tickling the ivories to give the audience an opportunity to warm-up their vocal cords on some old standards, celebrate birthdays and anniversaries, or just take a break.

Then the cast returns to perform a Vaudeville style Olio review with music, dance and comedy that the whole family will love. Audience participation makes for a different show every night that is sure to have something for everyone of all ages. Musical direction is by Bruce Littrell and Mark Arnest with Olio direction by Vicki Kelly and choreography by Vicki Kelly, Rebekah Ratterree and Daisya Downen. Costumes and wigs for the entire production by Noah Hensley and Stephanie Bradley. Backstage tech is by Steve Brown.

Accompanying the production is the Chateau's three course meal with garden salad, choice of oven roasted chicken or old-fashioned pot roast, real mashed potatoes and gravy, southern green beans, seasoned rice, biscuits and cobbler for dessert. Dinner arrival is between 6:00 and 6:30 p.m. and the show starts at 8:00 p.m. Dinner and show is $16.50 to $31.00 per person; show only is $9.50 to $16.50.
